Brooklyn Trolley Roads' Service Badly Crippled.

PRESIDENT'S PRIVATE CAR MOBBED

Motorman Injured - Secretary Wickes Went to the Man's Rescue and He Was Finally Rescued From the Rioters. Demands of the Men.

NEW YORK, July 17 .- Another trolley strike is on in Brooklyn. For some weeks past the employes of the several lines controlled by the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company have been complaining that the management did not live up to the ten-hour law. The men demand a revision of the time tables at the different barns and also claim that they should be paid 20 cents an hour for overtime, which is equivalent to $2 a day, the price which they set for a working day of ten hours. A strike finally went into effect.

The Smith street, Franklin avenue and Hamilton ferry lines, which are controlled by the Coney Island Railroad company, having maintained the regular terms with their employes, were not impeded in the least, but on all other roads transportation was stopped for awhile and a good deal of congestion occurred in consequence.

About 1,000 policemen from the precincts in Manhattan and the Bronx districts had been conveyed to the different barns and many were placed along the several routes comprising the territory covered by the Brooklyn Traction company.

At first there were very few cars run over these lines, and those that were sent out from the different barns were policed by two, three and four constables. On the Putnam avenue line only a few men refused to work, and it was notable that scarcely a half dozen of the cars on this division were policed. The Flatbush and Bergen Beach cars, the Nostrand avenue, Gates, Ralph and Myrtle avenue cars, as well as the Third avenue trolleys, had a meager service in the early hours of the day, but traffic on the old Nassau lines, which comprise the Fifth, Seventh, Park and Vanderbilt avenues and Douglass and Butler streets roads, was practically at a standstill. The men on the Nassau road were most determined and not one of the motormen or conductors went to

The cars remained idle for several ing stock was got to working by inspectors and linemen, and, in fact, oilers and helpers were pressed into service so as to maintain a partial running of the system. Many of the old conductors and motormen reported for duty on the Gates, Ralph, Broadway, Myrtle avenue, Flushing and Third avenue roads, and President Rossiter said that shortly over 50 per cent of the old hands were hours, but about one-tenth of the rollover 50 per cent of the old hands were at work on these lines. Later in the day the cars on the latter roads were running at intervals of ten minutes, which meant that the service was crippled about one-third.

The Sunday traffic, which is usually very heavy to North Beach, Bergen Beach and Coney Island, filled the cars, but the dread of trouble or disturbance kept hundreds of people away from these seaside resorts.

President Rossiter's private car Ampere started from the City hall and made a round trip. It was delayed by rioters. The motorman was attacked. Secretary Wickes went to his assistance and he was finally rescued from the mob. In the vicinity of Greenwood the track

The partial destruction of the feed cable on the Flatbush line was reported, but a score of linemen soon repaired this in a temporary manner which sufficed to reopen the line. A conference was held at police headquarters. Among those present were Police Commissioners York, Hess and Sexton, Chief of Police Devery, Deputy Chiefs McLaughlin of Manhattan and McKellar of Brooklyn and President Rossiter. General McLeer was also in attendance, but he said that as far as he could see, that there was no necessity for the calling out of the militia.

President Rossiter said he had made arrangements to handle the Coney Island patrons as far as practicable by trol-ley service, but that he had advised his assistants to arrange for the transportation of the majority of the Coney Island crowd back to the city over the elevated railroad lines. The police commissioners informed Mr. Rossiter that his patrons and the public in general, as well as the company's property and all other properties, would be sufficiently protected by the police force. In addition to this, Commissioner Hess informed Mr. Rossiter that he thought the sending out of his private car was non-politic, and, to use his own words, it was like "shaking a red rag in frent of an enraged bull.

Several arrests were made during the day among the ranks of the strikers and their sympathizers, but no disturbance of a very serious nature occurred.

The reasons for this view are not very convincing, but Senor Betancourt has not positively denied the authorship and it is notorious that he has expressed almost identical sentiments in the Havana cafes on different occaserusions before American officers. ### THE SWEAT OF THE POOR, THE BLOOD OF THE BRAVE.

P. BENJAMIN, IN COMING NATION.

Waste treasure like water, ye noble and great! Spend the wealth of the world to increase your estate. Plle up your temples of marble, and raise Columns and domes, that the people may gaze And wonder at beauty, so gorgeously shown, By subjects more rich than the king on his throne. Lavish and squander, for why should ye save The sweat of the poor and the blood of the brave?

Pour wine into goblets encrusted with gems; Wear pearls on your collars and pearls on your hems; Let diamonds, in splendid profusion, outvie The myriad stars of a tropical sky! Though from the night of the fathomiess mine These may be dug, at your banquets to shine, Little care ye for the chains of the slave, The sweat of the poor and the blood of the brave!

Behold! At your gates stand the feeble and old. Let them burn in the sunshine and freeze in the cold; Let them starve—though a morsel, a drop, will impart New vigor and warmth to the limbs and the heart. Ye taste not their anguish, ye feel not their pain, Your heads are not bare to the wind and the rain. Must wretches like these of your character crave The sweat of the poor and the blood of the brave?

An army goes out in the morn's early light, Ten thousand gay soldiers, equipped for the fight; An army comes home at the close of the day, O, where are their banners, their goodly array? Ye widows and orphans, bewail not so loud; Your groans may embitter the feast of the proud. To win for their store did the wild battle rave, The sweat of the poor and the blood of the brave!

Gold! Gold! In all ages the curse of mankind! Your fetters are forged for the soul and the mind. The limbs may be free as the wings of a bird, And the mind be the slave of a look or a word. To gain, these men barter eternity's crown, Yield honor, affection and lasting renown, And mingle like foam, with life's swift-rushing wave, The sweat of the poor and the blood of the brave.

BURKE AND QUINLAN.

Oxford and Cambridge Men Will Admit Them to Compete In the Athletic Events.

BRIGHTON, England, July 17 .- "he joint committee having charge of the forthcoming athletic contests between the teams of Yale and Harvard and Oxford and Cambridge universities at the Oneens club. West Kensington, London, held its first official meeting at the Hotel Metropole. The Englishmen came from Eastbourne and took luncheon with the Americans. Ewart Wendell of Harvard presided, and among those present were Joseph B. Morrison, Chas. H. Sherrell and Holcomb J. Browne, ou behalf of the Americans, and C. N. Jackson, T. C. Vassall and A. Hunter on behalf of the home team.

The meeting proved most satisfactory. the greatest good feeling being dis played on both sides.

The status of Burke and Quinlan, of the American team, was roughly discussed, and the conclusion arrived at was that no objection to them would hold for a moment. Mr. Jackson was very emphatic in denouncing the English newspapers that originated the controversy. STORM UNROOFED HOUSES.

Two Women Badly Injured, Orchards Destroyed and Other Damage Done.

CUMBERLAND, July 17 .- A storm cut swath about a mile wide below this ried across a field and fell on a carriage in which W. H. Humrickhouse, wife and daughter were driving. Mrs. Humrickhouse was badly injured. Their child was thrown out under the horse and escaped with slight injuries. The carriage was totally wrecked.

Mrs. Mary Lizer was driving her cow home when the storm broke. She was swept off her feet by the wind and hurled to the ground with such violence that she was found in an unconscions condition, being badly injured about the head and back.

Wheat that stood in shocks in the field was caught up and blown in every direction, while fences were blown al most out of existence. Houses were innoofed and apple and fruit orchards ruined.
